. . . Ann Landers

ly nice man. But the neighbors are gossiping and the relatives have had plenty to say.
He got himself a good job (he's a tool and die worker) and Mom says he helps out with the bills. He sleeps on the sun porch and keeps his car in our garage.
When we told mother about the talk she said to pay no attention. She claims Uncle Frank is an honorable man and good company for her. Do you feel we should say any more to Mother or shall we let the matter drop?—S AND J.

Dear S and J: Say ONE more thing to Mother, THEN let the matter drop.
Tell her if Uncle Frank is such "good company" they should get married or he ought to live elsewhere. Even though he (like Brutus) is an honorable man, your mother (like Caesar's wife) should be above suspicion.
Dear Ann Landers: I'm 17 and never liked a girl before I met Martha. She's so popular I was afraid to ask her for a date because I didn't want to get refused. I finally invited her to a Saturday matinee, three weeks in advance. When she said yes I was in the clouds.

The Saturday before our date I saw a pretty locket in a store window. I decided to surprise her and have it engraved with her initials. The morning of the big day I phoned to say what time I'd pick her up. She told me then she was sorry she'd said yes and that she didn't want to go with me. I was very disappointed. Now I wonder if I should give her the locket anyway. It has her initials and I have no use for it.—JIM
Dear Jim: Don't give her the locket. Chalk this one up to experience and learn a lesson from it. Never buy a gift for a girl unless you are dead sure she thinks enough of you so that giving it makes sense.
CONFIDENTIAL TO THE WITNESS: Your letter was hilarious. You don't need advice. You need an agent.
Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)
